OUR VISION

Invest in women and girls.
Change everything.

OUR MISSION

We invest in the strength of women and the dreams of girls. The Canadian Women's Foundation raises money to end violence against women, move women out of poverty and build strong resilient girls through funding, researching and promoting best practices. We are a leading voice for women in Canada.

Thanks to you

“Last year we invested $7,571,295 to help women and girls in Canada move out of violence, out of poverty, and into confidence.

You supported ground-breaking programs that address the most critical challenges facing women and girls in Canada.

Because of you, women and girls have the help they need to transform their lives, right in their own communities.

With your help, the Canadian Women’s Foundation is making a profound difference in the lives of thousands of women and girls across Canada.”

VIOLENCE PREVENTION

HAYDEE,
Burnaby, BC

We believe every woman has the right to live free from violence.

“I knew I had two choices: leave or become a statistic. Now my mission is to be an advocate for women and children trapped by domestic violence. When I speak to women at the shelter, I find it very moving – I used to have that same look on my face. For my daughter and me, our own determination and strength were crucial. But without help from the community, we could not have transformed from victims to victors.”

- HAYDEE, BURNABY, BC

HOW WE'RE STOPPING VIOLENCE

We fund programs that help women rebuild their lives after escaping violence, as well as emergency shelters that help women move out of violence.

The programs we fund provide the compassionate and expert resources women need to help end the cycle of violence and to create healthy environments for themselves and their children. Our work impacts the most marginalized and high-need women across Canada.

We also make multi-year investments in Teen Healthy Relationships programs in communities across Canada. These school-based programs are a key component to our violence prevention strategy, by teaching teenagers to recognize and prevent abusive behaviour.

EMPOWERING GIRLS

A young girl with long dark hair and a gold chain headband is smiling while looking through a microscope. She is wearing a grey long-sleeved shirt and a blue patterned vest. The background is a blurred classroom setting with other students.

We want every girl to believe in herself and realize she matters.

“The sexualization of women and girls is everywhere. Why do you portray us like this? Seeing these images causes many girls to be highly critical of their bodies, undermining their confidence and increasing feelings of shame, anxiety and self-disgust. Here’s the thing: Real girls and women look like us. Think outside the box and stop limiting us and telling us who to be. Let us tell you who we are. Beautiful. Different sizes. Natural. Unique. Intelligent. Diverse. Don’t you agree? Represent us.”

- MS MEDIA (YWCA TORONTO, SCARBOROUGH, ON)
PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS LETTER TO THE MEDIA

HOW WE'RE EMPOWERING GIRLS

We support dynamic programs for girls between the critical ages of 9-13.

Girls in these programs build resilience by developing protective factors such as confidence, critical thinking skills and connectedness. Girls learn how to become media literate, think critically, and question stereotyped images. Issues of violence and substance abuse are confronted, and both online and offline safety concepts are taught. Some girls are also matched with mentors for up to two years through our new Nancy Baron Mentorship for Girls Program.

Through our work, over 10,000 girls across Canada are positively impacted.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

NECOLE,
Calgary, AB

We want every low-income woman in Canada to have the chance to move herself and her children out of poverty.

“There were some tough times. Then I participated in a program called Momentum [in Calgary] funded by the Canadian Women’s Foundation. The classes helped us to build the type of business that we want to actually create. My business is Wings n Tings. I’m taking charge of my future, I’m taking control of my own destiny, and I’m building a future for my children. I am a woman with a vision. I’m a woman who is happy now.”

- NECOLE, CALGARY, AB

HOW WE'RE ENDING POVERTY

We support life-changing programs designed for low-income women.

Through these programs women can learn a skilled trade, get work experience, or start a small business. The initiatives in which we invest help women train for a career. They also address the everyday challenges that keep women and their children trapped in poverty. As each hurdle is overcome, they begin to rediscover hope.

We know that strong leaders build strong organizations and communities. That's why we established a National Women's Leadership Institute in partnership with the Coady Institute. Launched in 2012, this three-year pilot institute builds the capacity and effectiveness of organizations that work with low-income women across the country.

ENDING HUMAN TRAFFICKING

TIMEA,
Hamilton, ON

We are taking a leadership role to help end the human trafficking of women and girls for the purpose of sexual exploitation in Canada.

ENDING HUMAN TRAFFICKING

“I am the founder of Walk With Me, a community-based organization that rescues and restores the dignity, freedom and well-being of women and girls who have been trafficked. Experiencing Human Trafficking myself taught me many important lessons, that lead me to want to make changes. But the most important lesson I have learned is that you can't do it alone. Our work is possible thanks to the support of the Canadian Women's Foundation. I've educated front-line workers and helped and supported many survivors of the same crimes I faced. These women and girls are my inspiration.”

- TIMEA EVA NAGY, FOUNDER, WALK WITH ME CANADA VICTIM SERVICES, HAMILTON, ON

HOW WE'RE CHALLENGING HUMAN TRAFFICKING

The Canadian Women's Foundation is taking a lead on ending the trafficking of girls and women for the purpose of sexual exploitation.

Girls and women are being trafficked into forced prostitution inside Canada, to Canada and across Canadian borders. We have launched a National Task force on the Trafficking of Women and Girls in Canada made up of experts, survivors and community leaders.

This work will develop a national anti-trafficking strategy and recommendations for ending this extreme form of violence against women. We are investing $2 million over three years to provide funding to grassroots organizations across Canada that prevent trafficking, help girls and women escape sex trafficking, and help rebuild their lives.

“My involvement with the Canadian Women’s Foundation began when I saw such powerful women speak at the Annual Calgary Breakfast. When I heard the great need, I knew I had to make a difference. So I called and volunteered. My commitment to the Foundation has changed my life, my employee’s lives, and most importantly, those of the women we help.”
