“We have three teenagers, twin girls and a boy. We hope and expect each of them to grow up with equal and fair opportunities to pursue their passions. We would love it if gender equality no longer needs to be discussed or worked towards - that it is simply the norm. And that our daughters, as well as our son, are valued for their character, intellect, and abilities above all else.”

- Jennifer and Stuart Rutledge, Rosemary Brown Giving Collective members and Foundation supporters for 10+ years

“While preparing for our fall session on nonviolent communication, the Teen Healthy Relationships programs funded by the Canadian Women’s Foundation caught our eyes. These programs educate and mentor teens to communicate effectively across genders and cultures ... especially during challenging times. The Canadian Women’s Foundation has been the leading force to protect, educate, and advocate for women. We feel thankful to be involved in this positive movement.”

- Action in Reading community group, which has raised $8,000+ for Teen Healthy Relationship programs
“Our sales team is so passionate and proud of our work with the Foundation. They know we are making a meaningful difference in their own communities.”

- Assured Natural Distribution, which has raised more than $600,000 for the Foundation’s work over 10 years

“Upon seeing the programs and advocacy of the Canadian Women’s Foundation, I knew this would be a place where I could help create a positive impact and add value to their work.”

- Volunteer Amar Khanderia

“The Canadian Women’s Foundation stood out to me as a national champion in the fight for gender equity. Through volunteering with the Canadian Women’s Foundation, I have had the privilege of working with like-minded and mission-driven individuals committed to gender equity!”

- Volunteer Karissa Avignon

“The work that the Canadian Women’s Foundation does to help lift women out of poverty and into better lives is truly life-changing. As a company run largely by women, for women, our partnership with the Foundation has changed our lives too. We are thrilled to have partnered with the Foundation on the Out of Poverty initiative for over 15 years and look forward to many more. When women and gender-diverse people are supported, incredible things can happen. We can’t wait to see what we can continue to accomplish together.”

- RICKI’S, which has raised more than $2 million for the Foundation’s work over 15 years

The late Honourable Rosemary Brown, who was the first Black woman elected as a member of a provincial legislature in Canada, exemplified a tireless commitment to advancing gender equality. The Rosemary Brown Giving Collective honours her, one of our Founding Mothers, and brings together a community of like-minded monthly donors who share her commitment to gender justice. The support of monthly donors helps sustain essential community-based programs and enable long-term interventions to advance gender justice. All year round, they help women, girls, and gender-diverse people reach their full potential, creating a better future for us all.

Ann Southam Feminist Legacy Circle

Our dear friend, Ann, was a prominent woman composer, trailblazer, and long-time donor and volunteer, whose two greatest passions in life were music and advancing gender equality. Ann’s generosity continues to give rise to new dreams and ultimately, the Ann Southam Feminist Legacy Circle can help make the dream of gender equality in Canada a reality.
